

(11) RT ON

The diagram illustrates a 100m sprint race layout on a track. The track is divided into six lanes, numbered 40 to 45 from left to right. The start line is marked by a solid horizontal line across all lanes. The finish line is marked by a dashed horizontal line, 100m from the start line. The runner positions are indicated by circles with letters inside:

- Lane 40: X
- Lane 41: H
- Lane 42: RT
- Lane 43: RG
- Lane 44: C
- Lane 45: LG
- Lane 46: LT
- Lane 47: Y
- Lane 48: Z

Additional markers include a solid line at the 50m mark and a dashed line at the 100m mark. The runner 'B' is positioned at the 50m mark in lane 43, and 'Q' is positioned at the 100m mark in lane 44.

The diagram illustrates a 100m sprint race layout on a track. The track is divided into six lanes, numbered 40 to 45 from left to right. The start line is marked by a solid horizontal line across all lanes. The finish line is marked by a dashed horizontal line, 100m from the start line. The runner positions are indicated by circles with letters inside:

- Lane 40: X
- Lane 41: H
- Lane 42: RT
- Lane 43: RG
- Lane 44: C
- Lane 45: LG
- Lane 46: LT
- Lane 47: Y
- Lane 48: Z

Additional markers include a solid line at the 50m mark and a dashed line at the 100m mark. The runner 'B' is positioned at the 50m mark in lane 43, and 'Q' is positioned at the 100m mark in lane 44.